My Dad was a "Super Dad" if one was willing to rise before daylight a great fishing adventure was guaranteed. He took care of his family, his grand kids, and strangers by giving away computers. He gave them to his church, churches here where I live in SC. Computers at cost for any teacher. He was so generous to his grand kids. Anything they needed including cars, Tuition, you name it. My son and his namesake would not be in Dental school today if it weren't for his grandpa paying every fee, Board exam, and the expensive dental things he needed. He paid his utilities and bought him food every week. And my dat did that for everyone who came visit him and love him. We watched college football every Sunday and he recorded many games so we could keep watching in the off season. He was the head football coach at JFK HS where he taught Earth science. He told me that a man isn't any better than his word and he enforced his rules with an alligator belt. Tough love is true love. When I became an adult, we became friends. the day a young woman came to his computer center with a dead lap top who was living in her car because she had been evicted. Had a job lined up, but it wasn't starting for a few days. He gave her a new Lap top, let her stay in his spare bedroom (As long as she cooked for him) and he gave her $500.00 when she left. And that is just the tip of the iceberg. I could go on all day about his good works.

“ He was Uncle Jim to me. I got to know him well over the last 20 years and what a treat it was! He had a thirst for information and was a natural educator. My girls (his great nieces) learned something from him every time we were together. He had a sense of humor unmatched and a contagious genuine laugh. I was blessed to have him in my life and will miss him and think of him fondly.

“ I met Jimmy 8 years ago. He was my "go to guy" for any and all of my computer needs. He was sharp as a tack. He was always kind. Godspeed Jimmy, and my sincerest condolences to your family.
