“ When our sister Vikki was dying both she and Larry drove straight through trying to say their last goodbyes. Ann did not leave my side as I was so grief stricken. She helped me with everything from picking out what clothes to wear to the funeral but to also go home to Mooresville and be such a great hostess for all family members. I don't know how I would have gotten through it all had it not been for Ann. She was the best sister-in-law you could have and I will never forget her. Love Margaret Anne

“ Ann Brawley-Brown,
I smile at the sound
Of a name that rolls off the tongue
Like a sweet serenade from a guardian angel
Each time the words are sung

I always loved the stories
Of her travels and tall tales
That I would hear when Nana was near
While the farmers gathered bales.

What a special soul,
To always think of others
And not just friends but family too:
Their granddaughters and mothers.

The little trinkets she would bring
In form of soaps a-plenty
And the kindness in her little things
Will always hold my memory.

Since I was young I've always sung
The name Mrs. Brawley-Brown
And known and felt her heart and love
Even if she wasn't around.

To get the call, hear Nana bawl,
And receive the awful news
Was heart-wrenching
But Ann lives on, there's many little clues

Like how the sun shines brighter
And the flowers smell so sweet
Because Mrs. Brawley-Brown's above

With a little checklist sheet

*To make sure all is perfect
And to guide us all through grief-
I take a deep breath in and sigh a grin
Knowing I have memories to keep...*

*For no matter how Many years come 'round
And summers change to fall
The gestures of Mrs. Brawley Brown
Will forever stay with us all.*

A poem by Emily Allen, granddaughter of Judy (Nana) Kiser, dedicated to Mrs. Ann Brawley-Brown, with much love.
