“ Libby, I have hours remembering times growing up, when dad would take me to grandmother's house, and you and your mom would be there. You were young and constantly following me and cousin Mary around, much to our dismay. There are so many other memories, I can't list them all. Barbara was something different and very special in her own way. I loved her. I told dad, he was not sure who she was, but we will keep talking about her, and maybe his memory will come around. Thinking of you,
Cousin Linda
