Carl Stanislous Hirt

(January 29, 1933 - February 15, 2015)

Carl Stanislous Hirt, 82, of Mooresville, passed away on Sunday, February 15, 2015 at his residence.

He was born on January 29, 1933 in Brooklyn, NY, to the late Charles and Jane Marcinkowski Hirt. Mr. Hirt was a retired experimental machinist owning Ricar Manufacturing Company, Inc. His company was a sub-contractor for Boeing, Sikorsky, Gruman, Fairchild Republic & Lockheed Aircraft. He helped design and make experimental parts for the Lunar Landing Module, which is still on the moon. Mr. Hirt was involved in the Coast Guard Auxiliary in New York. He trained Coast Guard Reservists at the Eatons Neck Coast Guard Station in Northport, NY. He participated in numerous patrols on Long Island Sound as well as the Atlantic Ocean. Mr. Hirt participated in the New York City Tall Ship Regattas, where he helped save the lives of three people on the Hudson River. Under the auspices of the State of New York he taught boating and water safety to children age 5 to teenagers. He also taught adults Coast Guard courses in the Huntington-Northport area. Prior to meeting his wife, Carol, he was a member of the National Guard. Mr. Hirt was an honest man and was always available to lend a helping hand. His word was his bond and a handshake sealed the contract.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by a sister, Rita Doran.

He is survived by his wife of 31 years, Carolyn S. Hirt; children, Susan H. Schmidt and husband, Rob, Carl R. Hirt and wife, Debbie, Dennis A.
