“ I met Mr. Charles while walking my dog Sam. We lived on the same road. He stopped one sunny afternoon and asked" Hey lady what cha doing?" I told him walking my dog Sam. He introduced himself telling me he lived down the hill with his wife Sandra. He proceeded to tell me he was in charge of lunch that day for them. I asked him what was he cooking? He started to laugh and held up a bag from a fast food restaurant. I said you cook like me, Mr. Charles. Bag, box or container... we laughed and off he went. Many days he stopped to talk to Sam and I.

Sam still stops and looks at his house, and workshop. ♡

Mr.Charles we love you, my Sam and I. You are our FOREVER FRIEND.

You left me a good friend.. your beloved wife. Somehow...I think you planned that.... ♡♡ “ Losing a loved one is never easy and we never want to let go. Then the time comes when we just have to hold onto the memories to give us peace and comfort and keep our loved ones close in heart each day as we continue to move forward, just as they would want us to do. My condolences to you Lori, and your whole family during this difficult time. You have been blessed with many wonderful memories which I hope help sustain you. They will be your touchstone, and you will honor your dad and his memory by calling on those moments of joy that you all shared. Hugs from Joan
