“ I met Cliff when we were both Sophomores in high school, and we dated for almost a year until his family moved to Mooresville, NC. For some reason, I cannot explain why, I had been thinking about him recently. He was such a kind person and treated me like a princess. A rare soul indeed. Like I said earlier, I was thinking about him and decided to google him to see if we could once again be friends. I was heartbroken to find out that he had passed away in 2018. I haven't been able to get that out of my head. Praying that his children, family, and friends continue to heal and cherish the wonderful memories I'm sure they have of such an incredible being. Cliff you will always be missed.

Condolences to his family and friends.

Thank you for the kind words of my "baby brother". I was thinking of him today along with our parents and pulled up his obituary. We moved due my dad's business shutting down and he found work in NC. Out of respect of my brother I will say his passing was health related. I miss him and my parents dearly and many days it still feels like yesterday. God Bless, Susan Duke

“ It is with extreme sadness that today I found out a life long friend since the age of three passed away last year. I'm broken hearted. It may seem strange to those reading this that I wouldn't know of his passing if I was such a good friend, but those reasons and the story that goes with it are his and mine.

We grew up in Wapakoneta, Ohio, and were great friends until his family had to leave after the third grade. But over the next 40 years, we stayed in touch and were the Best Man at each other's weddings. I could go on and on with stories about Cliff. He was a good man and I loved him the same that I love my four older brothers. I will miss him dearly.

I cleared the rest of my week from work knowing I won't be able to concentrate with this news. Luckily, my wife will be with me as I recount the memories and pictures I have of Cliff. I'm glad she got to meet him, if only for one short week.

Condolences to his family and children.

Cliff, thanks for being a part of my life and be at peace.

Hello Ginger. So sorry it's almost a year since you posted this and I'm just now seeing it. But of course it's near Christmas and once every year I find myself out reading Cliff's obituary either around the holiday's or his birthday in July. And I read my comments to make sure I didn't say anything dumb or crazy or something someone might misconstrue. I was so upset. I miss him so much. So very much. Anyway, if you see this I'm happy to correspond however you'd like. Email, text, phone, even FaceTime. But not on this website. When I found out he passed, I reached out to Tiffany and she was kind enough to call and talk to me. I'm fine telling you what she told me if you're still interested. Too be honest, I'd just like to talk about him a bit with someone who new him in a completely different way but new him to be a good guy. So I'll go out on a limb here even though my wife is a little apprehensive...but supportive. My email is suzanderic522@icloud.com I hope this finds you well and that we get a chance to talk about our friend Cliff.
