

Django Alexander Rosenbaum

December 18, 2000 - May 23, 2025

DJANGO ROSENBAUM, 24, of Sherrills Ford, NC, was suddenly taken from us on May 23, 2025, as the result of a motorcycle accident.

Django lived life at full throttle--bold, fearless, and unapologetically himself. Growing up on the lake and making trips with his mother, sister, and Granny to Tybee Island, he grew up with a passion and style for living life to the fullest, enjoying both the water and the feel of air rushing by him. He became an accomplished wakeboard instructor at IcyWakes Surf Shop in Cornelius, and during high school was known for customizing fast cars to his own style. He later worked as an audio-visual technician and became more socially active in the community. In recent years, he worked alongside his father at John's dealership Dark Horse Motorcycles in Gaffney. It reflected who he was. He rode fast, just like he lived- with intensity, freedom, and a love for going places wherever life took him. In January, he formed Django Rosenbaum Home Services. After only four months, it was off to a promising future, just like its founder Django.

Django is survived by his father, JOHN JOSEPH ROSENBAUM, mother MISSY PROPST ROSENBAUM, sister GABBY LOVE ROSENBAUM, half-sister LILLI ROSENBAUM (mother Misty Hildebrandt), grandmother DIANA H. ROSENBAUM, and of course DOUG.

He was predeceased by paternal grandfather, DR. GEORGE ROSENBAUM and maternal grandparents DAVID PROPST and JEAN PROPST.

Django's life will be honored at historic Rock Springs Campground under the Arbor on Wednesday, May 28, at 11:00 am. The family invites all who knew and loved him to attend and share memories, laughter, and tears. Though his time with us was far too short, Django left behind love, courage, and authenticity. Riding free, Django will never be forgotten.

The family is being served by their long-time friends at Cavin-Cook Funeral Home in Mooresville. Condolences may be made to the family at www.cavin-cook.com.

“ Love and Sympathy to the family of Django. David and Jean Propst were two of my favorite cousins and heard them talk so much of their love. Just now learned of Django's death. My sincere sympathy to all.

“ Missy, although not related, after 30+ yrs. as a Bucko's customer, I feel you are family. We have shared so much over the years, both at Bucko's and on Facebook, about parenting, travel, our aging mothers, the beach and our faith. So, I have thought of you much of each day with such great sorrow for you and your loss. I know a hug won't bring Django back but I want so to convey my deepest compassion for you. May our Lord bring you comfort and peace until you and your son meet again. Angela Hedgepeth “ Django always had a gleam or a spark in his eye as he talked about his latest car flip or wakeboarding stunts. His passion showed. The service today was quite moving, and he clearly has touched so many. You are missed already.

“ I didn't know him deeply, but I remember him. We had a couple classes together in high school—he was always kind, humble, and easy to talk to. A few months ago, we crossed paths again, unexpectedly. He told me about the business he had started, and the way he lit up when talking about it... I won't forget that. He still carried the same gentle, humble energy I remembered from school. You could tell how proud he was, not in a loud way, but in a quiet, steady way that made you want to root for him. There was a real sweetness in his soul, and I feel lucky I got to witness it again, even for just a moment. His loss feels heavy, and my heart is with his family, everyone who knew him better and loved him deeper. He deserved so much more time.

“ One of our designers reminded us today of the time that Django went with the design team to an NBA basketball players home and a piece of artwork caught his eye. He looked it up online, said he could do just as good of a job, bought supplies, recreated the piece and then sold his creation on eBay for a few hundred dollars. Somewhere out there in the wild is a Django Rosenbaum creation hanging on someone's wall.

Django had a great heart and we thought the world of him. He will be missed.

“ Missy, We are heartbroken to hear of the tragic loss of your sweet son, Django. It's devastating and so unfair. Our family has fond memories of him growing up alongside our Mason—from preschool days through high school. They shared many years, friends, and childhood moments that will always be part of their story. We cannot imagine the pain your family is facing and are holding you in our hearts during this time of unimaginable grief. I've also added some pics that I thought you would like to have. He won't be forgotten. <3
