“ I have said this many times before to other family and friends god has called another one of his flock home. She awaits us on Gods golden shores and saves us all a great spot for when all of our names are called one by one we will join her. she will be missed dearly. i offer up my prayers to the family that is still here doing gods work. her job was done here so God called her home to be with him forever. and i would like to think we will all see each other once again on Gods golden shores. I would also like to think she is watching over all of us. keeping a safe watch over all the family
