“ We are so sorry to learn of Hubert's death after his long COVID struggle. We enjoyed talking with him and sharing stories. Our grandson, Wyatt, is in the Air Force and he and Hubert realized they both worked on B52 bombers, which are still used today. They were both looking forward to Wyatt coming to NC on leave so they could talk about their Air Force experiences. Wyatt commented, "After all these years and these same planes are still being used, just think. Hubert's hands and mine could have touched the same parts." Not having even met him, Wyatt will also miss Hubert.
