“ Mrs. Buehler came to our school in Mooresville (Park View Elementary) and read to my class specifically for the past 4 years. She was a part of a Literacy program that came to read to classes in certain grades and she always went above and beyond for my kids every year and she will be missed dearly! She shared with them her love of Disney, activities for them to do after she left and she always made them the best treat bags! She touched so many students lives while she was a teacher but also as she came back to foster reading with my students year after year! The kids and I will surely miss her! We send our thoughts and prayers with her family and friends.

“ I loved my sister with all of my heart and she loved me. While I love my brothers, my sister was my favorite sibling. My brother-in-law, Bill, said she felt the same about me.

She was 5 years older than me, and I may have been the catalyst that awakened her innate mothering instinct. She looked after me when I was little, and that continued to the her last months on this astral plane. She was like a 2nd mother to me.

We played together as kids, especially board games, that were so popular back in the 1960s.

From the earliest age, we were both voracious readers. When I was too small to ride a bike, I would hop on the back of hers, and we cycle a couple of miles to the public library in Newark, NJ, something that would be unthinkable these days, but it was a different time back then. Later, when I learned to write a two-wheeler, we would bike together to the library.

Both of us thrived in school, which shaped the rest of our lives. Lorrie knew from the age of 5 that she was going to be a teacher. She taught Kindergarten in New Jersey for 4 years, and was often recognized by the Governor's office as one of the outstanding teachers in the Garden State.

Lorrie was kind, loving and selfless to a fault. Even after she retired to North Carolina, she volunteered at the local school to help out, and on Sundays cooked at a local church feeding the homeless and others who have fallen on hard times.

She loved Disney, dancing, the Hallmark Channel, entertaining and a million other things.

Her death was a shock to all that knew her.

I mourn her passing, and miss her terribly.
