“ Sorry to hear about Lucien's death. I just discovered the info yesterday.

The Feather Clan lived across the street from our family on Floyd Ave in Roanoke. I moved to Hamilton Ave and paled around with Lucien and Sonny Surface at Garland's Drug Store. Lucien, Sonny and I decided to join the Navy together during the Korean War. When the day came to enlist in the Navy, Lucien and Sonny "chickened out." I did enlist and noticed that Lucien and Sonny enlisted later. After the hitch in the Navy, I moved to the West Coast and lost track of Lucien and Sonny. I learned that Sonny died of a heart attack, sitting in his car on Grandin Road. I searched for Lucien and found his phone #. A few years ago i phoned him.He answered but seemed unresponsdive. Maybe he didn't remember me or he was not feeling well that day. I never phoned again. I have fond memories of friendship with Sonny and Lucien, and although I haven't seen Lucien in seventy years, I miss him.

“ Daddy, I am so happy you are whole and no longer encompassed by MS. I know you are fishing in heaven and watching over all of us. I remember fishing with a friend at the lake and Mom telling us we would not catch anything with with McDonald's french fries and moments later you calling out "Oh Ginger take a look at what the french fry caught" while holding up a huge carp fish laughing. I feel your presence in the call of birds especially when I hear the birdsong "bobbobwhite" which you taught me to recognize as a child when we were walking one summer evening. These memories are part of your legacy that I share piece by piece from love and admiration of the life you lived.

“ Just a note to say Im thinking of and praying for your family during this difficult time. Ginger, I will miss your sweet smile. Each day you walked by me to share your time and love with your husband and it made my heart smile. May our wonderful Lord and Savior wrap your family tightly in His arms as you each find peace as your hearts heal. Please know Im broken hearted for your loss and a call away if you need anything.
