“ Suzi was a lifelong friend. We met when we were juniors in high school. I had just transferred in during the middle of my junior year. I'm not sure why she picked me to be a friend, but I'm so grateful she did. We lost touch after marriages and divorces, then one day several years back she and Julie found me on facebook. We picked right up where we left off. Something magical about those special friendships that time doesn't change. We shared a lot of laughter and some not so funny life circumstances. I knew I could trust her with my warts. I loved my visits with her in Nashville and so many, many phone calls where we always found something to laugh about and share. I haven't seen Suzi in a few years, but that friendship lives on in my heart and mind; we are "forever" friends even though she no longer resides here on earth.
