“ A lot of people underestimate how deeply losing a lifelong friend can affect you. This wasn't just a casual friendship. Monica was tied to so many parts of my life, my childhood, my memories, my family stories, and so many of my first experiences growing up. Some people hold entire chapters of your life, and when they're gone, it can feel like a piece of your own past is gone with them. 💔

“ Monica was one of my very first best friends and such a big part of my childhood and early adult life. We grew up together walking the streets of laeger, singing everything from Dolly Parton to Ozzy Osbourne, arguing like sisters while always having each other’s backs, and making memories I’ll never forget.

One of my favorite memories was our 8th grade trip to Washington, D.C., where we handcuffed ourselves together joking around and having fun. That was us — loyal, wild, and always together.

We survived our teenage years side by side: sneaking wine coolers, borrowing clothes, sharing makeup tips, and going through teen pregnancies together. Later, when our kids were little, we survived on Little Caesars pizza, Chuck E. Cheese trips, parks, music, and late nights talking. Cruising around in her purple PT cruiser.

As life went on, we ended up living in different places and didn’t see each other as much, but we always stayed in touch and cared deeply for each other. Losing her feels like losing part of my own story.

What a life to take , what a bond to break, your family will be missing you. I know that we only talked about few times, but I know that we understood each other. May you rest with the Lord and have the peace that you truly didn't know on Earth. I'll miss you 😞.

“ Monica will greatly be missed ! There are lots of memories with this sweet young lady ! But the first ones that come to mind is when she was still at home and all the countless nights she would stay the night with me (aunt Michelle ) and I would let her do my makeup and hair - staying up half the night watching tv etc!!! Watching her grow up was a honor and memories will live on in my heart til we meet again ! Love you Monica - RIP 📿❤️📿❤️
