“ Dick was friend with a giant intellect and a kind soul. It was a joy to be in his company. Between the many laughs he always left me feeling more knowledgeable about our shared interests in welding. He was one of those people that when you shook his hand it felt like you gained an extra IQ point. Condolences to his family. Rest in peace.

“ I had the pleasure of meeting Dick during an EPRI project that was being conducted at Battelle in Columbus OH. back in 1979. I was a very young engineer on this project, and he convinced me to join his team at EPRI in Charlotte, NC. He was my friend, mentor, leader, spiritual consultant and so much more. He was considered an uncle to my kids and a dear family friend. He and Judy, along with his family were the best. I have many stories of his attempts to teach me how to golf, going fishing, discussions on family, faith and following God's plan. We went on lunch trips to pick out cars, travelled to all parts together and shared so much together. I would not be the engineer nor the person that I am today, if not for Dick. There are so many others who would probably say the same - he had a wonderful way of being a teacher and you didn't realize you were part of his lesson plan until sometime later. A few phrases that will live with me forever from Dick:

- Patience is a virtue. (I found this to be true so many times)
- Personal power is so much more important than position power. (A business lesson to be remembered).
- and - the most important:
 - Put your life and problems in the hands of our Lord. He will see you through anything. (very true).

Mostly, I will always remember Dick as being the kindest and most thoughtful person I have known. He was so proud of his family and always loved to talk about them. He really taught me how family is the center of your life and everything else is replaceable.

He will be missed by so many, and my family is deeply saddened by his passing. Our hearts and prayers go out to Judy, Stephanie, Rebecca and all of his family members. Go forth knowing that Dick's legacy continues in the hearts of all of those he touched along the way.

“ Mr. Smith was an amazing man. I met him and Mrs. Smith after becoming friends with their oldest daughter Rebecca in high school. He kept us on our toes always a step ahead. Provided wise advice that although took years to accept made a lot more sense as I got older. He will be missed by many. Hugs and love to the family. Prayers for healing.

“ Praying for your family and so sorry for your huge loss. I worked with Dick in the early days of J. A. Jones Applied Research. He was always so kind and welcoming to anyone whether you spoke "welding" or not! What was most important to him and he expressed was his love of family and love of His Savior. It was so nice to meet someone who wasn't afraid to share from the heart. Kindest regards, Patty Wade

“ Smith Family – Losing your Husband, Father, and Grandfather is a huge void, and I am sincerely sorry for your loss. But I hope you take some solace in knowing that the void is so large because he was such a great man and large part of so many lives. He touched and guided the trajectory of so many people during his life and I promise we are sharing your loss as well.

I got the distinct privilege to hear about each and every one of you while working with Dick. I can say without any doubt that he was so very proud of all of you and loved each of you without measure. That is no surprise to you all ... because that's who Dick was. He was kind, ready to make a joke, always there when you needed someone and always willing to give words of encouragement. That's not to say he was easy on people and expectations, but he conveyed those the right way. His contribution to our industry is not measurable but he equally contributed to lives of everyone around him. Dick was my mentor, and I am so very grateful I was given the opportunity to work with him but also to call him my friend. I will miss our discussions about wine, football, life, and whatever the topic of the day was.

I am truly a better husband, father, engineer, and overall human being for knowing your Husband, Father, and Grandfather. Thank you for sharing Dick with all of us and he will be missed!

“ Condolences to the Smith Family. Dick was a kind and genuine man, whose technical prowess and compassion for humans allowed him to be the great leader he was. I am forever grateful for my time with him as he taught me so much about engineering and the industry in such a short amount of time. Rest in Peace!

“ I only worked with Dick on one project for a short time, but made developed a great friendship. I knew nothing about welding, but he never talked down to me, always explained heavy technical issues with simplicity. This takes a great mind. I will always remember him. I know that he had a relationship with God, and that comforts us in our loss.

“Dr. Smith was truly a great friend and mentor. We met before my time at SI when he was brought in as a third party consultant on a rotor weld repair we were performing. Once he realized we had our technical ducks in a row, we had many jovial discussions about faith, family and politics. That led eventually to me throwing my hat in the consulting ring under the mentorship of Dick. We had a great time putting together a series of webinars highlighting welding in the industry. He truly elevated my technical knowledge and my technical writing skills. It was such a pleasure to learn from and work alongside such a pioneer in the industry. He will be missed.

He always held his family in high regard. My heart aches for them during this time. Prayers for the family such that the grieving be as painless as possible.
