“ Rickie Stutts was the first guy I personally met that used guitar pedals as his personal playground. He walked into our little practice on the day I met him and he broke out this smorgasbord of electronics and began to paint with these sounds I had only ever heard on albums. I was in awe at the sounds coming from him. For that moment in time, it was my version of heaven. Rickie was a kind soul with a huge heart and unfortunately pain that haunted him. So today we lower our heads and lift our guitars in the air for him. Rickie wrote a poignant line for From A Seed's song Rope... "If you knew my road, you'll know my shoes. With just a little luck, you'll know my blues" Rickie Stutts

“ My dude is gone.... RIP Rickie Stutts... I am so incredibly hurt right now. I always thought w had more time bro, for our girls to meet and become friends, to hang out some more... much love from my bench bro... I'm just so hurt right now. Sleep well my dude, I'll miss you and that guitar, nobody had hands like Rickie Stutts... We lost a beautiful mind amongst us.

“ I have been alternating between being in shock and crying, it makes me so sad that this had to happen, I just talked to him the night before and he wanted to hang out, but I was tired so I went home after work I really wish I would've went over there. But anyway here's a bunch of pictures I found from when me and him would do light painting out in the street in front of my house and back at the rock quarry at Carrigan Farms. There's several pictures where you can see it's him spinning the steel wool and of course him in the ninja turtles mask LOL Rickie Stutts was the only one that would always come hang out and take the pictures with me that I wanted to take, staying out there until late at night. It makes me so sad that we can never do this again, or sit at his house and paint, or tie dye, or anything...I just thought maybe everyone who knew Rickie Stutts and are undoubtedly just as heartbroken as I am, would maybe like to see these pictures of Rickie.

“ Amiguita querida, lamento mucho tan valiosa pérdida ... Te tengo en mis oraciones y le pido a Nuestro Santo Padre Celestial que te de fortaleza y te ayude a aceptar lo que no podemos cambiar... Que lo reciba en su morada celestial y lo convierta en tu ángel protector de ahora en adelante. Lamento mucho el no poder estar contigo en estos momentos aunque lo he estado mental y físicamente, compartiendo tu dolor. QEPD y QDTBS

“ Siento un dolor indescriptible al leer ese mensaje,pero mas por el dolor que representa para ti.Porque ya el no siente miedos,dolor,coraje.inseguridad,ni ningun sentimiento negativo que en ese momento lo atacaba.Para un ser tan especial las lagrimas nunca son suficientes;asi que tus lagrimas nunca se secan.Solo deseo que recuerdes que fuiste un tremenda madre,siempre presente para tus hijos.De donde crees que el obtuvo el modelo para ser el admirable padre que fue?Como todo ser humano,Rickie pudo cometer errores,pero su calidad humana reflejada en su trato con sus hijas,contigo y con sus hermanos,opaca cualquier error o fallo humano.Te envio un fuerte abrazo y mi deseo que dentro de todo tu dolor siempre recuerdes las bendiciones que recibiste de ese angel que Dios te presto por un tiempo.

“Picture this... Rickie was 5 and I was 11...Rickie and I grew up in the same neighborhood. The lady that babysat him lived across the street from me. I remember a sweet, sweet face and even a sweeter heart. This boy was intrigued by almost everything that surrounded him, especially anyone with a few years on him. He was fascinated by what you did, where you were going and what you said. He was a bit quiet, but very observant from what I recall. Several years later, I ran into him as a young adult. Ages were probably 21/27. He was young enough to be still be "green", but old enough to know how awesome this life was. He was excited about a fresh path he had just started. He told me all about it. Then, selflessly and genuinely asked me about my life. He was one of those people that when you walked away from the conversation you recalled his thoughtfulness and it warmed your heart and made you smile. I remember him stopping me in the parking lot to say hello. I remember his hug. I remember his dark eyes. I remember his huge smile. I think Rickie had a special connection with most people. I think he was more compassionate and seemed more genuine than a lot of people you meet in life. I think he had alot of love in his heart. This was just his way. It was good. It was special. MUCH LOVE IN RETURN to Rickie and his family... and to all that had the privilege of knowing him

“Ricky was a honor and blessing to have known you. You truly had a heart of gold. I also know how much you loved your girls.. Thank you for the short bit of time we had together talking, playing guitar. I will never forget the love and passion you had in everything you did form your art, working on granite, playing guitar, loving your children ,friends & family. You will be missed. I hate your life was so short and we never got a chance to get together like we talked about, but one day we will meet again brother. See you on the flip side Ricky

“ I am so sorry for the loss of Rickie. He was a great guy. I was very good friends with him in middle school, and he was my "boyfriend" for a little bit. He was so laid back and so friendly. The first time my dad ever met Rickie.. he was showing off some kind of Karate type moves to my dad.. Ever since then my dad would call him "tricky Rickie." He was so kind, and so loving.. and I think so misunderstood by so many people. Rickie had one of the best hearts of anyone I've ever known and he will be truly missed.

I remember one day we were talking out on the porch and it started raining. Frogs started jumping everywhere! I have no idea where they were coming from but I was laughing so hard. You were freaking out. Lol. That was so funny! I will miss seeing you walking around the corner. Or scaring the crap out of me in the middle of the night rattling my door knob. Your sweet beautiful soul will be truly missed. Your smile and chuckle will forever be etched in my memory. Love you! Rest easy my friend.
