“ Dave and I would joke with him how we were old enough to be his parents since he was born the year we graduated from HS. Steve was friend to all ages and a role model for Christian living as he inspired us all with his worship through his love of music. He will be missed by all who were blessed to know him. He sings a new song unto the Lord.

“ Julie and Frank, I am so sorry to hear of Steve's passing. Your family and the beautiful music you brought to our church were a big part of the reason I joined. I am so glad to see your family is celebrating his life with the music he loved so much. Both of you and your family are in my thoughts and prayers.

“ Although my head knows Stever is at peace and finally free of pain, my heart hurts. Stever posted this message and photo of him and our mom on Sept 19, 2015. Words of wisdom we should all take to heart, right? hello my friends.....this journey's struggle has been the toughest I have ever been through.....I offer some quick words to you. If you get out of bed each morning....look up and thank God.....If you know of someone you haven't been in touch with ...call them and say hi and tell them....you were on my mind....each day remember something good from your past and be grateful you were part of that experience.....thanks for the cards and the calls.....my very special long distance friends...
