“ I miss my son so very much. I read the sweet messages that he sent me and my heart continues to break. I realize that he is in a better place, but that does not make it any easier as the days go by and I am not able to see his smiling face. I can only pray that God will help me to understand why I am here and Terry is not with me.

“ I want to wish Terry's family my condolences for the loss of a good and crazy man. We was roommate at A company 97th General Hospital Frankfurt Germany, I remember until the day Terry moved in to Room 222 it was very quite to quite, that first night Terry introduce me to his alter ego, the Lizard king and boy howdy that room came alive, he fit the room the room fit him we had lots of good times but I have to say there where time we'd wake up in the morning and look at room and cry as well as laugh. Terry loves to walk around and see things that nobody else wanted to see. I remember one time in Amsterdama group of us one of the many times we went, Terry took off for 3 days only to appear the last day when we were getting ready to leave I asked him where he went and he said we wouldn't believe that if he told us, but that was Terry he just love life and I think life enjoyed him. Terry was and will always be my roommate and friend. I will miss you Brother from another mother. Keep rolling Lizard King x

Hi Steve, I am not sure if you will see this (as I am writing it in 2024- a few hours until 2025). My name is Lauren and I am Terry's oldest. I went down a rabbit hole of family ancestry and somehow managed to make my way to this page. I wanted to thank you for this kind message. I resonate with a lot of the magical ways my dad experienced life (sometimes I can't even begin to explain it if I tried). Anyways, I hope life is well for you and thank you for sharing your experience with him. He's a special dude and still rocking - no doubt!

“ My deepest condolences for your loss of Terry. Terry and I swore an oath to our Nation together; carried each other through Army basic training; and, were together 24/7 throughout our time at the Academy of Health Sciences, Fort Sam Houston, TX. Though we have not been physically present in each other's lives in decades, I've continued to consider him my Brother, none the less. May God watch over you all, and comfort you during this time of grief. But, may He also flood your hearts and souls with joyful memories of the man I will forever call Brother.
