“ Uly invited me and my kids to North Main Park one day to build and fire off rockets with him and his kids. It was my first time hanging out with him and I really appreciated him reaching out to connect. I had met him through Andrea at church, but only had a few conversations before then. I have fond memories of that day in the park and I still have the rocket kit he gave me. I'll fire it off this summer and think of him. He was a good man with a gentle soul and I'll miss him.

“ Ulysses is my cousin. I watched him grow up. I remember him staying the night at my house. His laughter was contagious. His smile a Young trait. I always told him I can tell when the Youngs lie I can see their wisdom teeth. He said April I never lie with a huge smile. I said Uly there is that grin the Youngs have and I can see your wisdom teeth. We laughed. His spirit is with the family but I know as long as we love and remember him he is never truly ❤️ gone. He will be in the wind that kisses our cheeks. In the sun that hugs our backs. His love can be heard through a birds song, and his kindness can be reminded to us God's creative beauty and in passing along the love we shared with him. Uly You will be missed. You are in good company and we will see you again one day. Rest well and kiss them all for us. Love you Uly.

“ Uly was a man of integrity, compassion, intelligence, and generosity. I met Uly about a year ago after he came to work for American Airlines as an avionics technician. He was a special person who seemed to have a magnetic personality that others were drawn to. He quickly made many good friends at his new job, gaining the respect and admiration of all, including coworkers many years his senior. He was a bright and fun-loving person who could have a friendly conversation with anyone about anything. I am thankful to have known Uly, his passing is a sorrowful blow and he will be missed very much. My condolences go out to all who knew him, especially his beautiful family.

“ I met Ulysses at a weekly Bible study at Grace. I knew he was a young man, early on he didn't speak much. Then one night he gave his two cents about a Bible topic and I was literally blown away. I figured he must be in his 40's with wisdom like that! Anyway he and I became good friends and it never bothered him or I that we were 25 years difference in age. We got along like brothers and he was the only mechanic that I let work on our cars. He never charged what the job was worth though, always had to up the price. And the story above of him driving to Richmond, that Uly everyday. He took it personal when we had car trouble. And as a dad - he was the absolute best I've ever witnessed. Never seen anyone like him and I am going to miss my friend dearly.

“ Ariana, Uly's sister, is my wife. I've known Uly for about 12 years. He was truly a wonderful person and a great brother-in-law. He would always help in any way he could and I knew I could call him if there was anything I needed. His son, Leon and my daughter, Madeline were born exactly 1 month apart. They are the best of friends and it is adorable to see them play together ❤️. Uly was a wonderful father, both patient and loving. He knew how to teach right from wrong with wisdom and kindness. My heart is broken for our family. He will be dearly missed.

“ You were the best big brother a girl could ask for, people said we looked alike.. I know you are heaven because our Mother, Grandmother or Dad or Aunt or Uncle saw to it we got to church every Sunday, and sometimes Mondays and Thursday too, all a I can think of doing in my future seems so shallow is singing , singing to the lord like our family in a choir...singing every Disney song..it's so depressing that's the only thing I can think of doing to feel your still here, you contributed to my great love of music when you started singing Aladdin songs all proud, taught me to do it too and from then I would literally not stop.. I was singing last night I will have joy on this day... all I can feel as ruthless as it may seem.. that I gotta push my self forward..slipping falling can't get up, I got to get up so I can rip shiz up.. I'm going to fulfilled in my life with all the tips you've ever given me for making friends and what not I still have that you wrote for me struggling as a kid... still struggling but I loved you and considered you my best friend, only you would laugh at my humor. Honestly though I know you would want me to be content and happy for the rest of my life as impossible as this may seem for me and Dad right now... we were peas in a pod. You will be missed I loved you immensely would have given you the shirt off my back as you didn't me.

“ My name is Cornell Harris. I was introduced to Ulysses about 3 years ago. He was my friend and mechanic. One great memory that I have is when he repaired my Toyota Camry. Ulysses always did great work and stood by it. So after he repaired my car I drove it to Richmond , Virginia where it broke down. So I didn't want to bother Ulysses about the car because I knew that he not only was busy but I felt like it was something maybe I did because the car is older. Low and behold Ulysses called me and said “ hey man how is that car running” I told him “well it broke down on me” he was bothered by that so he then called me back and said where is it. I replied “Richmond Virginia” he said ok I'm going to get it for you and fix it. He went up to Virginia the following weekend took full responsibility for the issue fixed the car then drove it back. Mooresville is 4 plus hours from Richmond but that was the type of person was he was a stand up type person. His word was his bond and he stood on that! He will be greatly missed.
