“ *Milton and Sammy,
Emory and I are so saddened to hear of Jane's passing. Emory loved working with Jane, back in the day at the police department. You guys are in our thoughts and prayers.
Love to you both, Emory and Cynthia McLaurin*

“ My grandparents lived on Main St in Cornelius. There I had a really cool playhouse made from a cleaned out chicken house. With only a vacant lot between us, she quickly became my constant companion whenever I was up there. She was quick to remind me after all were are kin. In later years whatever I needed she was always there for me. I can truly say Girl you will be really missed

“ So, so sorry to hear of Jane's passing. She and Milton both have always been such nice people to know. Jane was fun and interesting anytime I had the opportunity to talk with her. She will certainly be missed by all who were fortunate to know her and to be her friend.

Blessings to Milton, their daughter and all those who are certainly better for having known this dear and unique lady.

“ "...and did it her way with no regrets". Yes she did. Jane and I grew up across the street from each other in old Cornelius on N. Main St. She was 6 months older than me and both of us were our families only child. We grew up like brother and sister. And sometimes we would argue like brother and sister. Jane, Milton, myself and her family spent time together at the beach. My wife Judy and I spent time with them in the mountains at their home. You never had to guess what Jane was thinking, she always told you. We will miss another one of the old Cornelius gang.

“ We loved living across the street from Jane and Milton during our years on Main Street. My children remember picking okra on their back patio and watching The Wizard of Oz with Jane. Randy and I always enjoyed her fun perspective. After a particularly loud fraternity party we asked if they'd been bothered by the noise. Jane responded that she enjoyed it; “it sounded like life,” and she liked hearing the kids have fun.

Hugs to Tammy and Milton and all our Davidson friends, Randy, Katie, Lee, Francie, and D.J. Gottlieb
