“ Wally was a blessing to be around. He had a smile that made you feel special and you didn't want him to leave even when he was selling you insurance. He came by our office in the fall and it seems we laughed and cut up more than we worked. He and Lynn have been our friends for years and Heaven will be a more lively place since Wally is there! “ I met Wally at Church around 2006 and instantly knew that he would become a friend. Several years later I was invited to the group of seven that enjoyed each other's company every Monday for lunch. Such a good person with such a warm smile. You will be missed Wally. See you later.

“ Wally was a good man and a special friend to us! Our Grandson Gage would greet him from across the yard with a wave and yell, “Hey Wally” and Wally would always return a “Hello Gage, how are you.” We will miss our sweet friend right next door!
