“ Dearest Warren. I've missed you since I moved back to MN my friend. I'm heartbroken to read of your passing. I think of you pretty often and I was going to call you tonight to catch up. When the number I have for you returned an out of service message, I decided to look up your new number on the web-- I don't have the words to tell you how much I hurt to find you here.

I'm glad your sister stays in touch with you. I remember the stories you told me about her, and how hard it was to move away from Cape Town.

Mandy, my name's Greg. Warren and I worked together at Lowe's-- I interviewed him for his first job there. We became friends immediately. Warren is one of the best people I've ever met. His integrity, care for others, and DORKY sense of humor always give me joy.

My heart goes out to you both.<3 I imagine you're as wonderful as Warren is.

I love you Warren. I wish we could see each other now, and that our families could meet. I don't know how to say goodbye now. I don't want to say goodbye, because I'm not prepared to let you go.

Be at peace, Warren. Always remember and be proud of all the people you touched.

Sarah, I cannot imagine the pain you and the kids are feeling. Warren was one of a kind. I've known him for over a decade, as our paths crossed through work from time to time, and it was always a pleasure to work with him, and later, for him, when he was our VP. He was a true class act with an intelligence everyone admired. His passing has been a shock to us all. We shall miss him dearly!

“ I want to start by offering my deepest sympathies to Warren's family and close friends.

The first time I met Warren was in June 2016. Lowes had just purchased Rona in Canada and I had to present our security posture to Warren. In addition, it had to be done in English, which is not my native language. I was very nervous and slept only a few hours the night before. The morning came, and the presentation lasted 3 hours. At the end of the meeting, Warren stood up, gave me a firm handshake and told me he was happy to meet someone as passionate as he was about security. At that precise moment, I knew a big part of my life was going to change. My wife reminded me tonight that when I came home that day, I told her about a thousand times that I wanted to work and learn from this man.

To me, Warren was a mentor and an inspiration of what I wanted to become as a leader and as a security professional. Even with his crazy schedule, he always took time to enquire about my work and offer his support. Every time I would make a trip from Canada to Mooresville and show up to his office, he would always welcome me with a smile and his firm handshake. He loved the area and would always recommend a place to visit or a restaurant to go to.

He always made me feel like I was part of the team. His leadership, foresight, dedication, passion and willingness to make his team the best will remain with me for the rest of my career. For a young professional, located in Montreal, having the chance to work for someone like Warren is a once in a lifetime opportunity and for that I will always be grateful.

Thank you Warren from me and from all of your team in Canada.

I was shocked and saddened to learn about this. Met with him less than a month ago. I've known him over 10 years and worked with him on many security projects at Lowes. Always loved hearing him speak with his South African accent. Nice guy and gone way too soon. Condolences to his wife and family and very saddened to hear about this. Rest in Peace Warren.
