William "Perry" Whitlow, 76, of Kure Beach, NC died on Monday, April 1, 2019, at New Hanover Regional Medical Center in Wilmington, NC. “ Perry - You went and really messed things up again. Dadgummit, you went and beat me to it. All right, now that said, I'm sure I'll be seeing you in the not to far off future.

For ones reading this that don't know our come hell or high water, we're gonna make it happen one way or the other bound and determined relationship / friendship. There was not another person on this earth that would not give 120 to 150% of himself to make a wrong a right. We stayed in so many “pickles” with all our adventures over the years Perry had to stay on his toes to make sure all was right, and all was good.

This man had the biggest heart ❤️ of any three people I know.

Brother Perry, you know I love you and will miss you for what maybe a short period, but I will be seeing you when I get there.

“ *So sorry to learn of Perry's death. We were friends for many years as classmates in middle school and high school both. He was a really good guy and we had many good times together. Lost touch after the late 90's (he came to our 35th Garinger High class reunion and it was so good to see him then.) Sympathy to his wife, children and to Sybil , Dean and and their children as well. Blessings to all.
